PUBLIC SYMPATHY
WITH GOVERNMENT

Cabinet Has Made Preparations for Fight to Bitter End—Ban on Coal
Exports and Supplies to Be Rationed—No Fear
of Food Shortage.

BY A. E. JOHNSON,
United News Staff Correspondent.
London, October 15.—Industrial warfare on a gigantic scale never before reached in England has been declared in the decision of a million coal miners to walk out of the pits on Saturday. It will be a fight to the finish. Either the backbone of unionism is to be broken, its leadership discredited and its radicals
forever crushed, or a political crisis
of tremendous significance will result.

On the eve of the adventure,
England is calm, almost oblivious to the march of events. Here, facing
the country and only twelve
hours away, is the greatest economic and industrial crisis England
has ever known. The public, lulled
into false security time and
again during the past few weeks,
when postponement after postpone-
ment intervened to save the situation, realizes only a small extent what is to come.

Both sides digging in.
Both sides spent Friday digging themselves in. The government issued a final statement of its position. It declared that the miners'
hand had been called, and that with
the workers' insistence of a flat
increase of wages, without guarantee of production, no further conciliatory steps could be taken. In the meantime, every department of the government was exercising its rights to throw a bulwark around
the nation's supplies. Huge stores
of coal were piled in districts easily accessible to manufacturing and
great residential centers.

The ministry Friday night
announced that passenger service on railways would not be curtailed until the usual October closure, and
that the country would be permanently cut down from 20 to 30
per cent. The suburban and city
services will be maintained indefinitely, although non-essential
freight will be subjected to delays.

The board of trade, in an official statement, announced that all public utilities would continue operation for three months after the production of coal ceased.

Coal exporters are negotiating for purchases from America and China
for delivery on the continent.
The government hopes to break
the miners' federation once and
for all.

Radicals are busy. The extremists
who brought about the final decision to walk out in their pro-
testing by every means in their power
industrial dislocation—with the
too evident hope of precipitating disasters. On the other hand, the mine owners, for the most part,
favor the show-down, believing that
with the sympathy of the general
public heartily with them, the radicals will be driven from the saddle.

An "emergency proclamation" was issued Friday by the board of trade,
calling upon the public to cut down
on its consumption of coal. Manufacturers of gas and electricity have been ordered to curtail their production. The display of electric advertising signs and inside lighting in shops is forbidden, and a limited use of gas and electricity for power is permitted.

Households are put on fuel rations of 100 pounds of coal a week.
All consumers are to be registered,
and those going beyond this
limit will be cut from the list.
A limited consumption will be permitted to industrial and business
concerns.

The food ministry announces that if the strike is confined to the miners, England's food supply is assured for almost any period; if,
however, it extends to other industries, the ministry will put into effect certain plans long ago considered, whereby an adequate distribution of food can be maintained. Sugar rations are to be halved.

Greatest Exposition
In Atlanta's History

OF "ATROCITIES"
LAID TO MARINES

Secretary Daniels Names
Board to Investigate the Charge of Alleged Killing of Haitian Prisoners.

CONDUCT OF MARINES
DEFENDED BY DANIELS

He Says That They Have Shown Forbearance Except in a Few Cases.
Secretary Explains Delay in Making Public
Col. Russell's Charges.

Washington, October 15.—Secretary Daniels announced today that he had appointed a board of inquiry
to make a thorough investigation
of "all wrongs alleged to have been committed by United States
marines in Haiti," and particularly
the reference to "indiscriminate
killing" in Brigadier General George Barnett's confidential letter of a year ago to Colonel John H. Russell, marine commander in Haiti.

General Barnett, former commandant of the marine corps, who left Washington yesterday for San Francisco, has been recalled to Washington. Secretary Daniels
said, to appear before the board
as a witness.

The board, which is composed of Rear Admirals Henry T. Mayo
and J. H. Oliver, and Brigadier General J. H. Pendleton, of the marine corps, has been directed to
"sift every bit of evidence." Mr.
Daniels said, to the end that "any man in the American uniform guilty
of wrongdoing shall be brought to trial and punished."

Russell Report Made Public.
Secretary Daniels, at the same time, made public Colonel Russell's
report on the investigation ordered by General Barnett. Although the Colonel's report was made under date
of March 13, 1920, the report never reached there, the secretary said,
until brought back by Major General
John A. Lejeune, commandant of the corps, on his recent return from Haiti. A joint report of General
Lejeune and Brigadier General
Smedley D. Butler, who accompanied the marine corps commandant
to Haiti, giving the result of a supplementary investigation made by
them during their visit to Haiti,
also was given out.

Colonel Russell's report of last March giving the result of two marine adjudicated at the trial "two marine
privates which showed, the general
said, there had been "practically indiscriminate killing" of captive
bandits, placed the responsibility
on "conditions" in northern Haiti
of which he had previously been in command in that district.

Expressing doubt as to whether
evidence secured in the investigation was "sufficient to warrant trial
by general court-martial on charges

Greatest Throng Ever Is Expected to Attend the Southeastern Fair During Eleven Days From Now Until October 26.

EXHIBITS FAR SURPASS
THOSE OF PAST YEARS

Atlanta Ministers Indorse
Action of Fair Directors
in Eliminating Games of Chance—Big Pageant
Tonight.

EVERYTHING READY
For the first time in history
of Atlanta fairs, everything is in complete and satisfactory readiness for beginning action when the turnstiles start their clicking this morning at 8 o'clock.
The fair association and its
friends have worked their hardest for a total success—and Atlanta believes they will have it.
Thrilling motor races, featured by the world's most fearless
drivers; the magnificent historical pageant, "From Days of Old"
—these occasions will mark chief
interest in the opening day of Atlanta's greatest exposition.

Tornadoes, cloudbursts or earthquakes missing, today will see the 1920 Southeastern fair open with an attendance which should break all
previous records for an opening day,
according to the announcement Friday by President H. G. Hastings,
of the fair association, "that exhibits, amusements and features far
excel those of previous years, and that they are in finished readiness
for the exposition's inception."

Enthusiasm over the fair has been manifested throughout the southeast
and it is expected that the eleven
days of the fair's extent will see
the city thronged with visitors from all sections of Georgia and other states in this particular nook of the North American continent. Officials of the fair association are confident that they have the best
and most interesting programs to offer that they have yet provided.

The elimination of games of chance, contrary to the belief of some, seems to have intensified the
joy with which the fair is anticipated, and this action has won the approval of many. Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, president of the Atlanta Evangelical Ministers' association, asking that they give the fair
every indorsement and encouragement.

Riding Devices Ready.
The first day, as the following
days, will have its quota of life
to offer. The riding devices, including on their sportive roster such
as the greyhound, the giant, the
old mill, the four-abreast
carousal, the whip and other things
snappy and salient in the memory of
previous fairs, will be in full swing
and roll. The dancing pavilion will be waxed and tune-provided; the Johnny J. Jones shows, from the midgits to the lady, will be barked
about in full voice and thronged
with laugh-seekers.

The motor races, promising hair-
raising episodes from such renowned
pilots as Disbrow and Haugdahl,
will begin their storm of exhaust

PRICES HERE DEFENDED
BY COAL SPOKESMAN

Dealers' Committee Meets
Today to Plan Drop in Prices, Following Flat
Demand From District
Attorney.

Following the failure Friday of local coal dealers to agree with United States District Attorney
Hooper Alexander as to what constitutes a fair retail coal price, and
the subsequent formation of a committee of dealers to hold another conference on the matter today, The Constitution last night sent telegrams to newspapers in twelve
southern cities asking for prevailing retail coal prices, and the information secured from eleven replies indicated that the price in
only one city approached the rate
of $17.25 per ton now prevailing in Atlanta for good grade coal.

Raleigh, with coal quoted at $17
per ton, led the list, with Nashville, at $16.50. The cheapest rate at Vicksburg, a dispatch from Richmond said that soft coal prices
range from $11.50 to $13 per ton,
and that a 50-cent reduction is being given by dealers to customers
buying one ton or more on one
order.

The eleven replies, all received
from city editors of leading papers,
showed the following prices:

Rate in Birmingham.
Birmingham, retail coal for
household use, $7.60 to $12.35; better grade coal around $11.75, delivered.

Louisville, lump coal average $11;
same in eastern Kentucky and $9
in western Kentucky.
Chattanooga, grate coal $13 delivered; Kentucky coal $11 to $12;
screamed run of mines averages $11
to $12 delivered.

Charlotte, standard lump coal, $16; was $13 before freight increase.

Rate in Nashville.
Nashville, western Kentucky coal $8 delivered, but no supply; other coal, $9.75 to $13.75.

Montgomery, average price coal $12.50.
Richmond, coal ranges from $11.50 to $13.

Ashville, cheap lump coal,
$12.55; Jellico $15.55 to $16.55.
Raleigh, soft coal $17.
Columbia, soft coal $15 to $16.50.

Stover's Statement.
F. T. Stover, chairman of the local coal dealers' committee, when informed Friday night of the results
of The Constitution's inquiries, declared that prices quoted in other cities were entirely in keeping with prices in Atlanta when freight
charges to Atlanta are considered.

He said that, although the maximum price here is $17.25 per ton,
the average price is $14.50, and the
minimum price is $11.50 per ton.
"In comparing Atlanta coal prices
with those of other cities," Mr.
Stover said, "you must not only
consider freight charges to the city,
but you must consider the quality
of coal on which the figures from other cities are quoted. Nashville,
for instance, where a very low rate
is quoted, gets its coal from the western Kentucky coal mines, because of their proximity. The coal
it only comes but a short distance by rail, but is of a very inferior grade."

"The freight on a ton of coal
from our mines to Atlanta is $2.50,
whereas freight charges from the western Kentucky coal fields to Nashville are much smaller, as the shipments are made direct over the Tennessee Central railroad. Of course, the difference in freight is not wholly responsible for the big difference, but some consideration
should be given to the fact that coal received in Atlanta is of a much better quality than that mined
in western Kentucky."

Thorough Discussion.
Mr. Stover stated that the matter will be thoroughly discussed by
the dealers' committee which meets
at 10 o'clock this morning at the chamber of commerce. Another meeting of the committee will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock,
and immediately thereafter it will
meet again with the district attorney.

A meeting will be held Saturday
morning of the special coal committee of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, of which Jerome Jones, editor of The Journal of Labor, is chairman. The committee was ap-

Detroit, October 15.—Governor
Cox, of Ohio, democratic presidential candidate, announced here tonight that his campaign would be fought squarely upon the league
of nations issue as drawn by Senator Harding, his republican opponent. In the latter's Des Moines
speech, in which the senator said
he favored "staying out."

The governor's announcement

prominent republicans, headed by Ellis Root, Herbert Hoover, Henry W. Taft and others, declaring their support of Senator Harding.

Governor Cox's Statement.
The governor said he did not see

support Harding. His statement
said:

Rooms in New York Hotel
of Mrs. Mary B.
Armstead Looted—Total
Value of Lost Articles Unknown.

New York, October 15.—(Special.)—Returning from a theater
to her rooms at the Hotel Claridge,
Broadway and Forty-fourth street,
Mrs. Mary Armstead, of Atlanta,
Thursday night found the contents
of bureau drawers dumped out and the rooms disordered. The windows
were fastened and the door had been looked when the intruder went out.

Mrs. Armstead hastily went over her valuables and found, according to the report she made yesterday
to the police at the West Forty-seventh street station, that $500 in cash, a quantity of jewelry, which
she valued especially as heirlooms
and 200 shares of securities were missing. She told the police she was not satisfied with the investigation made by the hotel management.

Among the jewelry listed as stolen
were a hunting case gold watch
with a blue enamel back, an Egyptian scarab, Florentine brace-
let, a necklace of carved ivory
beads with amethyst settings and
two bracelets set with amethysts.
The securities stolen consisted of 100 shares of Mexican petroleum
stock, fifty shares of Inspiration
copper and fifty shares of Yellow Pine mining stock. Mrs. Armstead
declined to put a financial valuation on the jewelry, and said she did not know what the stock was worth. She has been here a week
visiting friends.

No information regarding the
Mrs. Mary B. Armstead alluded to above could be secured at a late hour last night. Several persons with initials at variance with those
above and with the last name
spelled slightly differently are listed in the city directory, but none
could be reached by telephone.

COTTON FACTORS
MAKE VAIN PLEA
FOR SOME RELIEF

Five Southern Senators
Headed Delegation,
Which Was Made Up
Entirely of Cotton Factors and Bankers.

DISASTROUS RESULTS
FEARED BY THE BOARD

If Credit Restrictions
Should Be Lifted for Cotton—Board Criti-
cised by Several Senators—New Statement of Credit Policy to Be Made.

Washington, October 15.—Representatives of southern cotton commission merchants appealed to the federal reserve board today for suspension of regulations defining rediscountable financial "paper in another effort to gain relief from the credit 'stringency,' which cotton
interests declare has struck the whole industry.

Propositions laid before the board,
however, were declared by Governor Harding to be so intricate and to involve such serious questions that
the delegation, numbering thirty or
more, was given no definite reply.
Five southern senators headed the
committee, which was made up entirely of cotton factors or commission men and bankers.

Fear "Disastrous Results."
Board members indicated they feared the "disastrous" results to business generally should the restrictions about which the cotton
men complained be lifted. Suspension of the regulations, even temporarily, it was said, would mean a
flooding of reserve banks with rediscounts sought on paper classified as similar to the obligations which the
cotton men desired to have accepted.

Specifically, the delegation asked
that the reserve banks be permitted
to rediscount paper on which the commission men had made advances
to the cotton planter. Governor Harding declared, however, this form of paper, even though secured
by mortgage on the planter's crop,
did not come within the meaning of the federal reserve act, which defined the classes of obligations
which might be rediscounted. He said the loans represented an advance on an option, the commission
man himself not being engaged in
any agricultural or industrial productions, as required, and that his note might be rediscounted.

Senator Smith, of Georgia, told
the board that probably half of the entire year's crop of cotton was tied up under such paper. He urged
"some sort of help, even if it is only
a temporary suspension of the regulations until congress can amend the law." He believed the change would be "readily and easily made at the next session."

The board was criticized by several of the senators, who declared it
had not intended the law as its framers had intended. Governor Harding replied that the board had interpreted the provisions of the act
along what it believed to be sound
banking lines.

IN RELIGIOUS VEIN, COX MAKES PLEAS

adopted with or without reservations is friendly to the league, and that any one who is against the covenant, with or without reservations, is clearly opposed to the league. Senator Harding, in his Des Moines speech, said: Governor Cox favors going into the league and I favor staying out. It is not interpretation but rejection I am seeking. I leave the people of America to decide the case just as these gentlemen have presented it. I submit in answer the spoken words of Senator Harding. If these gentlemen do not accept what he has said to the American people then it is past my understanding how they can, as a matter of ethics, advocate his candidacy.

"If, on the other hand, they do not accept in good faith what he has said, then I cannot see how they can, as friends of the league, advocate his candidacy. They attempt to justify their most astonishing position on the theory that President Wilson was unbending in his attitude on the league. On the subject, they say, Mr. Wilson insisted upon the agreement absolutely, unchangeably. These gentlemen, upon reflection, must realize that this is not justified by the facts."

Calls G. O. P. Efforts Frantic.
Citing the reservations offered by Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, administration leader in the treaty contest, Governor Cox recounted that President Wilson had written Senator Hitchcock stating that he could accept reservations "as they stand."

In his speech here tonight and also in a half dozen other cities today the Ohio Governor continued his league preachment, making them almost his sole subject.

Cox at Harding's Home.
A feature was a speech at Marion, the home of Senator Harding. Several thousand persons there and at other Ohio points, cheered and applauded the democratic presidential candidate. At Marion, however, the governor made no personal reference to Mr. Harding. The senator was out of town on his Indiana trip.

The big crowd at Marion heard the governor from a temporary platform near the railroad station. Several blocks from the front porch which the governor has ridiculed for weeks.

Arriving at 11 o'clock, an hour late, two brass bands escorted the governor to the platform nearby, to which he walked amid handshaking crowds, and had literally to fight his way through the cheering throngs. There were a few cries of "Hurrah for Harding."

Another Delay Seen in 'Mixed' Baby Decision

postponement of the "mixed" baby case until November 1 will be held at the courthouse this morning at 9 o'clock between Judge George L. Bell and Attorney William E. Arnaud, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Garner, plaintiffs, and Attorney James W. Austin, who represents the defendants, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Pittman.

There is a possibility that Louise Madeline, 18-months-old baby, whom both mothers claim as the result of an alleged exchange of babies while they were patients at Grady hospital, will be a good-sized child before final court proceedings for possession of her are concluded. In all probability, the losing faction will appeal the case, as each mother is convinced firmly that the child is her own.

Judge Bell, who recently heard the writ of habeas corpus in Fulton superior court brought by the Garners to obtain possession of the child, allowed an amendment to the original petition, which threw the decision in the case on a jury of twelve men instead of one man, in admitting the amendment. Judge Bell set the case for hearing November 1, in his own court.

Attorney Austin stated that the date named was too early, and the conference between the two attorneys and Judge Bell was then decided upon. The case in question has attracted much attention and publicity, and drew from Judge Bell a scathing criticism of the "system" of handling newly-born babies at Grady hospital.

He stated that the Garners had, and which neither mother claimed, died last spring.

RESERVE BOARD BALKS
ON COTTON CREDITS

agents and reserve bank governors with the board was not concluded tonight, as has been expected, and there were indications that the questions involved in the proposal of the cotton representatives would be given attention tomorrow. Governor Harding announced Wednesday that the board was preparing to make a new statement of credit policy as a result of frequent appeals for financial aid from agricultural interests. He expected tonight to make public the board's attitude on these questions tomorrow. Meanwhile a committee selected from the agricultural representatives which have been meeting here was awaiting the board's next move. This committee was charged with determining a course of action for the more than thirty farmers' organizations whose representatives had laid their grievances before various governmental agencies. Two courses were under consideration today in event the board's statement of policy does not provide the relief sought. One was the calling of a general conference of all agricultural interests to meet in Washington with the convening of the next session of congress, and the next was to ask the support of the American Bankers' association.

PRODUCERS HOPE FOR SOME RELIEF BY GOVERNMENT

Washington, October 15.—(Special.)—Not wholly discouraged by the flat, if not brutal, refusal of Secretary of the Treasury Houston and members of the federal reserve board to aid them in their effort to relieve the impending crisis facing the farmers, the committee of agricultural producers who remained in Washington today still yet hope that the government which may relieve their plight. It is expected that a statement will be made by the federal reserve board concerning the board's future attitude and recommendations. It is also expected that at least one member of the cabinet, Secretary Houston, who has been friendly and sympathetic in the farmers' cause, will work out some plan which will enable the farmer to move his crops in an orderly way.

Congress May Act.

Strong intimations were given last night by Senator Smith and other congressional representatives at the conference that, should the government fail the farmers in this crisis, the matter will be brought to the attention of congress when it meets in December. The committee is a congressional investigation of the federal reserve board. If such a proposition is put up to congress, there is little doubt that it would pass. No senator or congressman is going to vote against a measure looking toward relief for those who till the soil. So that all that is necessary for such an investigation is for someone to offer a resolution looking to that end.

The committee is not a resolution of the federal reserve board the statement of their position as contemplated tonight. All angles of the situation, it was said, have been presented to the government officials. The committee is not a financial, and nothing further can be added. If the case which they have presented is not sufficient, results, and if action cannot be made possible through government activity, the committee will bring the case to the attention of congress. The committee is not a financial, and nothing further can be added. If the case which they have presented is not sufficient, results, and if action cannot be made possible through government activity, the committee will bring the case to the attention of congress.

Producers are Burdened.

"In my judgment it is wrong as a matter of policy to artificially press down the price of commodities," he said, "and it is particularly dangerous to begin with the new commodities for such a program. Such a program inevitably forces upon the producer the heaviest burden of reconstruction and readjustment."

"The attitude of Governor Harding has not been accurately reported," the commissioner said. "I have noticed that we always get very conspicuous reports to the effect that Governor Harding does anything which may be interpreted as a reduction of the price of cotton, but when he gives expression to views on the other side of the question, the publicity would help the cotton market, some of the newspapers for some reason fail to quote the present situation."

Second Proposition.

"In view of this second proposition," he said, "I am earnestly requested him to give encouragement to member banks in handling farm paper, for the reason that his previous utterances, and the utterances of Secretary Houston, have created a great deal of uncertainty in the minds of the bankers and have caused them to be extremely conservative in handling farm paper."

Completing his report of the Washington conference, Mr. Brown paid particular attention to the official report of the general committee. The condition of the mind of the farm population is very ominous, he said, and the producers of all crops have come to feel that the hand of the government is against them.

FOR INFORMATION ABOUT WHEAT DROP

Washington, October 15.—President Wilson has requested Governor Allen of Kansas, to forward to the federal trade commission information as to the reasons for the decline in wheat prices was due to unfair practices, or competition or to other artificial causes.

A letter to this effect sent today by Secretary Tumulty was in answer to many appeals for government action looking to an embargo on Canadian wheat. These were referred some time ago to the commission and the department of agriculture. Mr. Tumulty's letter to Governor Allen said:

"The president has received your telegram of October 8 with reference to the wheat situation, and has received a number of others of similar tenor. He fully recognizes the importance of the questions you raise, and he has, therefore, requested the federal trade commission and the department of agriculture to make the most prompt and the earliest possible moment with a view to determine what, if anything, can be properly done in the meantime, he will appreciate it if you will be good enough to forward to the federal trade commission any information in your possession, which, in your opinion, tends to indicate that the recent decline in wheat prices is due to unfair practices or competition, or to other artificial causes."

Philadelphia, Pa., October 15.—Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, said here tonight that he would comply with the request of President Wilson and forward to Washington information in his possession concerning the recent decline in wheat. He expects to return to Kansas within a few days, and said he would give the matter his attention then.

In a statement Governor Allen said:

"Almost immediately upon the reopening of the Chicago board of trade the wheat market showed the fluctuations which characterized a manipulated market. The dealers in options, using the Canadian wheat they had bought, have driven the wheat price in the United States and have scored the most sensational decline since the war."

"The president has no power to establish a differential. The only thing he can do is to thoroughly investigate the gambling on the board of trade and bring such relief as is possible. When the session of congress assemblies undoubtedly it will restore the tariff of 25 cents a bushel which the republicans protected wheat."

GREATEST EXPOSITION
OPENS THIS MORNING

around the mile track before the big grandstand at 1:30 o'clock. Between the events on the racing card there will be a band concert, and the rough-riding flivvers by the auto-poloists.

Music-lovers will be entertained by at least seven band concerts

during the day. In fact, there will always be a band concert in progress in some spot about the Lakewood grounds. The first will be played at the cattle barns at 10 o'clock, and from there the strains of band music will be heard from everywhere on the grounds—on Sylvan terrace, at the grandstand, in the Automobile building.

Great interest is also being manifested in the live stock and agricultural exhibits, features, which themselves will draw hundreds of Georgia farmers to Atlanta for the days of the fair.

Important Program. "We open the gates," says President Hastings, "with the most important fair program presented to the south during 1920. It is unnecessary to review the entire program, but I wish to emphasize the fact that we are one of two fairs in the United States which present grand circuit racing. What is more important in our opinion—we have the only grand circuit track where there is no gambling. If we even winked at a system of betting and

HOW TO SEE THE FAIR.

Visitors wishing to see as much in one day as possible should observe the following itinerary: Go direct from the main entrance to the fairgrounds on the left opposite the big tent on the plaza; down through the machinery exhibit to the swine barns; then to the cattle barns and back to the rear entrance of the Agricultural building, where are the exhibits of the extension service of the United States department of agriculture and the Georgia State College of Agriculture, with the exclusive government exhibit, which has not been shown at any other Georgia fair; then upstairs to the agricultural and horticultural exhibits.

Crossing the main walk, enter the Liberal Arts building, where at the main entrance will be found the fine arts exhibit. A complete circuit of the exposition brings you back to the main walk; turn to your right and go to the auto show. One may leave this building by the rear and cross the plaza, reaching the poultry show by the air at the rear of the Liberal Arts building, then through the midway; either street will take the visitor to the grandstand.

would put our hand behind us, we could make the races pay a handsome profit.

"The national hog and cattle show will, in my opinion, become the greatest live stock show of the world, and I have no doubt demonstrated that it has resources of the south. We expect to emphasize the fat stock features, which have never before been a part of our fair.

"We have in the international station-judging contest, a feature which should be particularly appreciated by the civic and business interests of the city, for we are going to have here the brightest boys from more than a score of states, contesting for prizes and for the honor of representing the United States at the Royal Live Stock Show in London. Here is an opportunity for the people of Atlanta to send away at least three hundred boosters for our city. These young minds will be easily impressed with our hospitality and civic spirit in such a manner as to bear us fruit for years.

Tickets Sold Downtown. V. H. Kriegshaber, who has been in charge of the sale of tickets for the fair, called attention Friday to the fact that Atlantans will facilitate matters considerably for themselves and the fair authorities if they will purchase their tickets at one of the downtown stores where they are being sold. This said Mr. Kriegshaber, will allow them to alight from the street cars at Lakewood and go straight through the turnstile, without the necessity of waiting in line to buy their tickets.

Secretary Burgin, of the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' association, is pushing the distribution of tickets among Atlanta grocers. "Our members," said Mr. Burgin, "should keep a good supply of tickets on hand for the convenience of their customers, and if they have not been supplied, or want their supply replenished, this can be arranged if they will notify me at my office by telephone."

Miss Annie Maud Mitchell, superintendent of the woman's department, says that there has never been such a large attendance of "strangers" in this division and that all space allotted to the women has been taken two weeks in advance.

The test of Atlanta's appreciation of the fair will come Monday, says Secretary E. M. Striplin, of the association, when the fair will celebrate Atlanta day.

"This fair belongs to the people of Atlanta," says Mr. Striplin, "every member of our executive committee gives his service during the year without compensation, and every dollar made goes back into property, belonging to the city of Atlanta."

Today's program follows:
8:00 a. m.—Admission gates open.

HIGH PRAISE GIVEN
TO FAIR OFFICIALS.

Giving their highest praise and commendation to the officials of the Southeastern Fair association for the announcement made by them that the games of chance would be eliminated from the fair this year, Dr. C. B. Wilmer, of the St. Luke Episcopal church, and Dr. Henry Alford Porter, pastor of the Second Baptist church, have given out intercessory calling upon the church people of Atlanta to support the big fair.

Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, and president of the Evangelical Ministers' association, has sent out to each minister in the association organization a letter requesting that they give the fair a word of commendation in their pulpits Sunday.

Dr. Wilmer declared that the Christian people should support the fair because of its practical interest and the potential development it promises to the people of Atlanta and Georgia. He also declared he did not object to wholesome fun and amusement and urged the people of the city to give the institution their heartiest support.

Dr. Porter spoke along the same lines, enthusiastically commending the fair association officials for the decision they have made to purge the fair grounds of any games that might be termed gambling devices and asking the people to attend the fair.

While the officials expect to keep the amusements at Lakewood up to a certain standard of moral worth, it is distinctly stated that there will be no lack of fun for every one. The decision to discontinue games of chance does not mean that the midway will be less lively, or that the amusements at the fair grounds will be robbed of any of their interesting and fascinating features.

The Facts of the Telephone Situation in Georgia

By J. EPPS BROWN, President.

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO.

Georgia's Telephone Service Needs

The Company has 4,000 unfilled applications for telephone service in the state of Georgia today.

We can not furnish this service because we do not have the facilities. During 1919 our forecast for 1920 warned us to expect and prepare for this demand. This we did.

During 1919 adequate facilities to meet the 1920 service demand were planned, the necessary money arranged for, their immediate construction authorized and orders for material and equipment placed with the manufacturers.

To complete this 1920 construction program for Georgia, now under way, requires the expenditure of $2,410,600.00.

The 5th and 6th advertisements of this series give the details of this construction program and the reasons why the material and equipment orders have not been filled.

Until these orders are filled, sufficient facilities to supply this service can not be provided.

The demand for service continues to grow.

Modern conditions and business methods have made telephone service a basic unit of commerce.

As the population and business of the country grow, the need for telephone service grows.

No one doubts that the population and business of Georgia will continue to grow.

Our forecast for the next five years' service requirements shows that, at the end of 1925, there will be a net gain of 25,600 telephones in this state.

These forecasts are based upon population, present and prospective, and an analysis of business conditions, present and prospective. The Company's present plant in Georgia was built upon such forecasts, and experience has proven their accuracy.

To meet the almost certain demand for telephone service in Georgia during the next five years (in addition to the 1920 construction program now underway), plant must be installed and expenditures must be made as follows:

FIVE-YEAR PROGRAM OF CONSTRUCTION, STATE OF GEORGIA

	Telephone Lines	Telephone Equipment	Net Gain	Total No. of Lines	Construction Cost
In 1921	15,200	18,400	4,200	97,452	$2,402,694
In 1922	16,000	19,600	5,000	102,452	2,523,009
In 1923	16,100	20,000	5,100	107,552	1,802,109
In 1924	16,200	20,400	5,200	112,652	2,479,409
In 1925	16,300	20,800	5,300	117,752	2,204,109
Total 1921-25	80,800	95,200	25,000	511,252	$12,809,329

These amounts are subject to increase in the amount we shall estimate of completing the 1920 program.

In no other way can this service be furnished. The necessary facilities do not exist; they must be built.

They must be built in advance of their actual need; in no other way can there be a "readiness to serve."

The next advertisement will tell you why and what you can do to insure telephone service for the immediate future.

AMERICA TO WORK TO PREVENT WARS, ASSERTS HARDING

Senator Reiterates That He Is Willing to Accept All That Is Good in the Versailles League.

LEAGUE AS IT STANDS NOT WANTED BY PEOPLE

Harding Says Hostile Verdict Has Been Repeatedly Rendered on Article 10—Favors Co-operation of Nations, With U. S. Sovereignty Preserved.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 15.—Asserting that America must do "everything she can" to prevent future wars, Senator Harding renewed here tonight his declaration of six weeks ago that in organizing the sentiment of the world for peace he favors taking all that is good in the Versailles league of nations.

Quoting from his league speech of August 23, the republican nominee pointed out that he declared on that occasion that the league might be "amended or revised" if its preservation were found necessary to the peace of Europe.

"When elected," he said tonight, "I will immediately summon the best minds of America to consult and advise as to America's relationship to the present association of nations."

"The senator's speech here, delivered a crowd of thousands in Tomlinson's hall, concluded a day of hard campaigning through the southern half of Indiana.

best minds of America to consult and advise as to America's relationship to the present association of nations."

"Article 10 Called Impossible. Sensible men and women will wonder," said the senator, "that those who, having no practical program to offer at home, no constructive proposal to make for America, should be going the length and breadth of the land proposing that the league of nations, as negotiated by the president, should be adopted."

"A democratic president, even if he were elected, would not be able to bind the American people to a mortgage of their conscience and their honor under Article 10 for the simple reason that he could not summon sufficient votes in congress to support it."

"When elected I will immediately summon the best minds of America to consult and advise as to America's relationship to the present association of nations."

"If in the failed league of Versailles there can be found machinery which the (Hague) tribunal can use properly and advantageously, by all means let it be appropriated. I would even go farther. I would take and combine all that is good and excise all that is bad from both organizations."

"The nominee did not comment directly on this question, following it with a suggestion that it would be better "to build up peace through justice than to promote the alliance of armed forces."

"There is no issue drawn between the president's league and no league or association. There never has been. But we are against the league which was negotiated and interwoven with the peace treaty in defiance of friendly American warning. Few people in America are opposed to a new relationship for nations. In the senate we want a long way toward accepting the president's league by safeguarding the interests and freedom of America. But the president rejected the covenant after our own republic had been safeguarded. That did not raise the issue of the league or no association, but it did raise the issue between supergovernment and free America."

"The first task is to reject the impossible, then unite America on a practical plan. The most progressive step must not be one person's creation, insistently urged. We have witnessed that sort of a failure, though a happy one for America."

The nominee reiterated that the nation could not specify a plan now "because the world's affairs are in a state of flux, and a detailed plan today may become useless toward and embarrass those who have committed themselves to carry it out."

He also quoted a passage from his Des Moines speech, saying there were many conflicting opinions which must be reconciled before the entire American people could be united behind any sort of program.

In his attack on Article 10, Mr. Harding repeated President Wilson's declaration that the article contains "an absolutely compelling moral obligation, and continued, 'It will not be deceived by the argument that we could agree to the Paris league and then creep out of our bargain to send our boys to Europe at the call of a supergovernment. Such a proposal ranks among the most contemptible ever presented to an honest people.'"

G. O. P. Position Called Correct. Commenting on the statement issued in New York yesterday by Elihu Root, Herbert Hoover and twenty-nine other leading advocates of a peace league, Senator Harding said, in a speech at Seymour, that the developments emphasized the correctness of the republican position.

"I know," he said, "that a considerable number of the noble and influential friends of an association of nations, the leaders of thought in that aspiration, have pointed out the hopelessness of the democratic proposal and have frankly said the hope of either accomplishment lies in republican success. This is not surprising. It develops no inconsistency. It only emphasizes the correctness of our platform and the growing approval of the construction upon it during the campaign."

"The league covenant, as negotiated and insisted upon by the president and accepted, approved and defended by the democratic candidate, is impossible. We will not have it."

"No, don't throw him out," said Mr. Harding. "This isn't a campaign of throwing anybody out. This is a campaign of appeal to reason. The only people we are going to throw out is the administration at Washington."

ings as well as against "all persons implicated who can be brought within the jurisdiction of the court."

That there had been "illegal execution of prisoners" in northern Haiti during the winter of 1918-19, "became known to Brigadier General A. W. Catlin, then commanding in Haiti, when he made an investigation the following March," the two generals reported.

"He transferred the officers against whom charges were made, but took no further disciplinary action."

Declaring examination of witnesses showed a "serious bandit situation" in northern Haiti that winter, which was "badly handled" by Major Wells as commanding officer, the report continued:

"A number of these witnesses also stated that the above mentioned officers in spite of the fact that collisions with the bandits were frequently taking place. These witnesses also stated that, in their opinion, this officer desired to conceal the true state of affairs from his superiors so as to prevent the gendarmes (native constabulary) under his command from being superseded by the marines who at that time were concentrated at Port au Prince and Cape Haitien. Some evidence indicates that his orders as officers were partly responsible for illegal executions."

"During the months of November and December, 1918, and January, 1919, several bandit prisoners were illegally executed at Hinche by gendarmes acting under orders of their officers; and there is strong evidence that 'Garnier Jean, the notary at Massade, was killed by the gendarme officer on duty at that time."

"We deem it appropriate, however, to state at this time that the conduct above outlined is not indicative of the general state of affairs in the gendarmes of Haiti, but that it constitutes an exception to the general rule of good conduct on the part of its officers and men."

Search for Report. In making public the Russell report today, Secretary Daniels said he was first brought to his attention that the report had not been received at the department when reference was made to it in the advance copy of a magazine article submitted to him. He at once asked Brigadier General Barnett if he knew of its whereabouts, the secretary said, and later ordered a search of the files.

It was not found, and Major General Lejeune then was ordered to Haiti to make another investigation of the whole affair, Mr. Daniels said.

Declaring it was "unfortunate" that General Barnett should have addressed a "personal and confidential" letter to Colonel Russell, which did not appear in the official files, Mr. Daniels said the general's report was "the first intimation that ever came to me that anybody had ever said there had been indiscriminate killings by marines or the gendarmes in Haiti."

General Barnett, however, had discussed the situation with him before ordering the investigation, the secretary said, and he had at once approved it with the direction that it be expedited.

Marines Are Defended. The secretary said General Barnett could not have intended to convey the impression in his letter ordering the inquiry that he had found evidence of "general indiscriminate killing" of natives by the marines and that he must have referred only to the parties involved in the two court-martial cases then before him.

With one or two exceptions, said the secretary, the record of the marines in Haiti shows "great forbearance towards the natives." He added that a "wanton attack upon their record is a wanton attack upon American civilization."

Government Surplus Property SALE WAGONS

We have just purchased the entire surplus stock of Standard Army Escort Wagons, all brand-new and stored at Chicago.

Wagonmakers, blacksmiths and everyone who have inspected these wagons say they are far superior to the average farm wagon. They cost the government nearly twice as much as farm wagons. For general utility use these wagons cannot be beat at any price for any use, in any locality, or climate.

We want to place these wagons in the hands of the consumer and farmer at the lowest possible price—a price astoundingly low and much less than they cost the government.

We want state managers for unclosed territory, who can invest a small amount in a sure proposition, showing larger returns than you can possibly find elsewhere.

Only the fact that we bought the entire supply at an extremely low price makes this possible. This is our first announcement. It required a world war to bring this opportunity—it will never come again.

Consumer inquiries will be directed to nearest distributor. Call, wire, phone or write.

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

HOW THEY COME TO GRIEF

In a recent 1,000-mile tour I happened to be the first doctor on the scene in three instructive disasters. And now that the automobile is coming to be one of our unexpected dangers, while to consider the preventable causes of these three particular accidents.

The first one occurred in a large city. A driver just ahead signaled that he intended to turn a left corner. He was going along at a speed of about twenty miles an hour and drove down very little for the turn. He turned a very pretty left corner, just a trifle too much to the left, and a little slower scolding his wayward from the left on the side street could not avoid colliding with the car ahead.

A few hundred dollars' worth of material damage was done, aside from the rule of the road. The driver was a captain. At a corner is the place of all places where a driver ought to be on his guard. He should leave plenty of room for the unforeseen coming down the left side of the road. He should not cut in on a left corner, cutting off the room that unforeseen might suddenly appear.

Event No. 2 was rather more foolish and also more serious. A big car with an optimum speed of 35 miles an hour gained on a small car with an optimum speed of 25 miles. The big fellow had a very good horn, for he gave it to me and I gave him plenty of room. But the driver of the big car didn't waste a signal on the little car ahead—he just tried to slip past.

The driver of the big car, however, at that moment swerved sharply over to the middle of the road and into a ditch. The big fellow was trying to climb a tree over in the field. Some ugly cuts by the shattering of the windshield were made, and the car was carried away by the front seat occupants of the big car. They will use the driver of the small car to pass even the most insignificant bus. Toots are cheap—might as well use one.

He tried to say the innocent party of this set to come off without any damage.

The final demonstration was most spectacular of all. Number of cars climbing a long, moderate up-grade. Brand-new bus, young driver, bored by the slow progress of the car in front of him. He was trying to beat out the last just below the brow of the hill. The hurry-up boy, however, had never can tell what may be coming over the brow of the hill. The hurry-up boy, however, had never can tell what may be coming over the brow of the hill.

"If" our contemporary says further—"the democrats can get the truth to the voters before the second of November they will win, but it will take a lot of work and a lot of good speakers and incidents."

The logic and the appeal in this should be particularly emphasized throughout the south, where the campaign for democratic funds is lagging behind.

Just because the republicans are in a negligible minority here is no reason why Georgia democrats should not do as much to bring about the election of a democratic president as should the democrats of a state in which the lines of party division are most closely drawn.

So, Georgia democrats, send in your dollars to the Cox-Roosevelt campaign fund—send them, either to Charles J. Haden, Grant building, who is in charge of the democratic national campaign fund in Georgia; or to The Constitution, or to any of the other state newspapers, which will receipt for your contributions and pass them on to the representative of the national campaign treasurer.

This is your fight; and it is your help that is needed.

Appropos the baseball scandal, an adept at paraphrasing has suggested that some men are born wealthy; some achieve wealth by pulling a horse in the home stretch; some by dealing from the bottom, while others "merely" job easy curves to the opposing batters.

Harding says he is against the league and, if elected, will keep the United States out of it. Taft, Hoover and other pro-league republicans, wants the country to elect Harding so as to get into the league. In other words, their advice is, if you want the waiter to bring you honey, call for vinegar.

A ban having been put on the withdrawal of booze from bonded warehouses, it is now up to consumers to draw from their hoards. But whoever heard of hoardings that would last through fifteen air months?

Harding says he is against war, and yet he is opposed to the only scientific means yet provided to prevent it.

Of course, it will be easy for Harding, if elected, to take the army of occupation out of Germany, as he says he will do, regardless of consequences; but the real, man-sized job was to put the army in Germany.

The public having been assured of plenty of sugar for the coming winter, now it's up to the coal men to fill the householder's cup of happiness to overflowing.

That Chicago clerk who read $1,000 as $1,000,000 must have been thinking of the increase in his room rent.

It is to be hoped that there will not be a similar increase in the pork barrel when those fifty new members are added to the house.

Bits of New York Life

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

New York, October 15.—(Special)

It begins to look like a bad winter for stage folk. Ten companies rehearsing for out-of-town production were disbanded during the past two weeks. The managers cannot stand the drop in the box office receipts. Very few road companies are going on tour and those now out are returning to New York shortly.

Coupled with this is the fact that very few new productions are being planned. The shows that have proved money makers are to remain on the boards in the metropolis. The actor is already beginning to feel the pinch of retrenchment.

It is even whispered that many first-class houses will be dark throughout the season, as there will not be enough productions to fill them. Managers sent out ambitious mimeographed plans to the dramatists in the country, but these plans are not going to be fulfilled.

"It looks like a tough season," said one actor on the Rialto the other day. "What with no work and a chance that one might run into McGraw any day. But it is useless to worry about the actor—on as David's side the manager, the children of the theater."

Incidentally Mr. Belasco in his fatherly way was addressing a group of stage people recently and referred to them as "my children." And, warming up to his love for them, he said, "For, indeed, you are my children." A chorus girl in the back row uttered and said, "O Mr. Belasco."

As has been said, it is useless to worry about the actor. It is his duty. The actor is a part of his life. He has steeled himself to withstand the knocks of his profession. He may cut his own hair and cook his own food. He may have a private hall room in the Forties, but he always has the jaunt front and elegant back.

Hearers Carried Away With Address of Cox

(Telegram to The Constitution.)

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 15.

Editor Constitution: Governor Cox spoke here tonight to a crowd of twelve thousand.

His address was a reference to Senator Harding provoked great enthusiasm.

Whether you agree with his views or not, he is very forceful and magnetic. He brought the crowd to its feet wildly cheering when he closed his presentation of his views on the role of national government.

The words: "Senator Harding can present the sentiments of Cain if he chooses, but I prefer those of the Man of Galilee."

Stock-Judging Boys Is Unique Feature Of Southeastern Fair

BY H. G. HASTINGS, President Southeastern Fair.

With the columns of our papers filled as they have been the past few weeks with state and national political fights, major league baseball, bad world's series, golf championships, etc., it is not surprising that less spectacular things of far more importance have been eclipsed.

The Southeastern fair has always been an exhibition of the best of the South. This coming week will be staged at Lakewood, where the fair has been held for many years.

Its ultimate effects will be immeasurably important.

The Southeastern stock judging contest, which is inaugurated at Lakewood next week is a brand new organization and is the result of a co-operative arrangement between the Southeastern fair and the club extension work of the United States department of agriculture.

While there have been limited contests between stock judging teams from some of the state agricultural colleges, yet this is the first effort that has been made in the Southeast to bring together a number of teams from various foreign nations have been invited to participate and a surprisingly large number of acceptances have been received.

This new feature of the Southeastern fair, which is under the direct supervision of C. A. Cobb, editor of The Southern Farmer, is not only a new feature but it is also a new feature in the history of the fair.

Under the plan of agreement teams representing the various states and foreign nations engaged in club work will be sent to the Southeastern fair. Each state or foreign nation will be represented by one alternate to be selected by the state agents under the rules of the contest.

These boys will be taken care of in a camp similar to that of the Southeastern Boys' Fair school and will have an opportunity to take part in the various sports and games of the fair.

More than 100 teams are expected to take part in the contest.

The contest will be held at Lakewood, Georgia, from October 18 to 22.

COULDRAGE TO CONSIDER ROOSEVELT CHALLENGE

New York, October 15.—Governor Couldrage, of Massachusetts, republican vice presidential nominee, today said that the challenge for a joint debate on the league of nations issue by Franklin D. Roosevelt, his democratic opponent, had not yet "reached him," adding that he would see what he could do about it.

He said that he did not believe that he would take up the advisability of such a debate in his conference today with Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee. He added that, in general, he did not favor such a method of campaigning.

Couldrage, who is about to begin a southern speaking tour, said that he believed that the republicans have a very good chance of carrying Maryland and Kentucky and better than an even chance of carrying Virginia and Tennessee. He said he did not believe the republicans could carry Virginia.

Governor Couldrage said he has received letters from voters all over the country stating their opposition to the republican ticket this year, because they wanted to get rid of the democratic administration and wanted a change.

The governor said the only reason they had given him was their "desire for a house-cleaning." In a statement to newspapermen, Couldrage said that the republican ticket would go republican this year.

NIGHT RIDERS BURN GEORGIA COTTON

Storehouse and Several Bales of Cotton Purposefully Destroyed—Gins Throughout Heard Country Posted.

Franklin, Ga., October 15.—(Special.)—A storehouse and several bales of cotton belonging to J. D. Daniel, about two miles west of Franklin, were destroyed by fire last night.

There is no doubt about the fire being of incendiary origin. A good portion of Mr. Daniel's cotton crop was baled and piled around the storehouse.

It is thought the same parties attempted to burn the storehouse and a number of bales of cotton belonging to Mr. Johnson, in the same community, last night. There is considerable excitement over the two affairs, and it is the general opinion that this is the work of night riders.

Mr. Daniel has offered reward of $500 for apprehension of the guilty party. This will be supplemented by the county, and the governor will be requested to offer additional reward.

It is reported here that a number of gins in the county have been posted with notices not to gin.

COTTON GINS CLOSE AFTER WARNING.

Anniston, Ala., October 15.—(Special.)—Complying with warnings posted at five gins owned by D. C. Cooper, mayor of Oxford, that the gins be closed down Wednesday, the owner stopped operation of the plants Wednesday. They will be closed until the owner is convinced there is no danger of their destruction.

A gin near Iron City, in this county, was reported to have been posted by "night riders" Wednesday night. No burnings have taken place in the county, though threats were posted at a number of gins Sunday night.

BURNED AND SEED BURNED AT DUBLIN.

Dublin, Ga., October 15.—Two hundred bales of cotton and fifty tons of seed, ginned yesterday, were destroyed by fire in the W. B. Rice warehouse here tonight. The loss is estimated at more than $30,000. The origin of the fire is not known. Firemen said the cotton may have been on fire when it left the gin.

The Rice warehouse was located immediately adjoining the county jail and for a time that building was threatened. All of the prisoners were taken out and held under guard until the fire was out.

County officials said there was no evidence of a plot to destroy the cotton because of the ginning.

FAYETTE COUNTY GINNERY BURNED.

Senola, Ga., October 15.—(Special.)—The gin at Clover, Fayette county, was destroyed by fire Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock. The origin of the fire is unknown, but supposed to have been caused by the gin. It was one of the most up-to-date ginneries in this section and was owned by Blalock Bros., of Fayetteville.

BRITAIN AND LABOR IN FINISH BATTLE

Immediately, however, and other foods may be limited later.

The controller of coal announces that the government will immediately upon the beginning of the strike, declare that "a state of emergency" exists, it has already sent out appeals to industry and to the public calling upon citizens to take steps for the benefit of the community, and announces that a system of rationing supplies to factories and public service corporations will be put into effect at once.

Embargo on Coal Exports. Coincident with the strike declaration came the announcement that the government had placed a ban upon the export of coal, which move will have far-reaching effects upon neighboring countries more or less dependent upon Great Britain for their supplies.

Many of the British industries, notably in the iron and steel branches, and some of the shipbuilding and engineering works already are arranging to close down.

In connection with the embargo on the export of coal the government this afternoon prohibited foreign ships from taking bunker coal.

American shipping board officials here were told by the British coal controller's department this afternoon that the order prohibiting the coaling of foreign ships was issued to enable the checking of available supplies. The officials were given assurance that after this had been done, passenger and mail carrying vessels would receive first consideration in the allocation of stocks on hand.

Public With Government. Public sympathy appears to be entirely with the government. Many people concede that the miners are entitled to an increase in wages by virtue of the increased cost of living, but contend the men should have accepted the government offer to submit the matter to an independent tribunal. There is no doubt negotiations will continue during the strike and the hope is expressed that something in the direction of a settlement may come from the reassembling of parliament next Tuesday.

In the course of a speech after the miners' conference today, Robert Smillie, the leader of the miners, asserted that the strike had been forced on the miners through the "obduracy of the government and their unwillingness to meet the miners' demands." He declared he had adopted a pacifist attitude in the belief and hope that a great industrial struggle would be averted, but now that the miners had decided to enforce their claims by the only weapon left to them, he urged them to be of good cheer, as they had passed through more perilous times.

Mr. Smillie said unity was needed and he hoped there would be no blot of the good name of the miners' federation.

The executive of the transport workers' federation called a meeting for Monday and a conference of the rail men and the transport workers will be held later on the same day to consider the attitude toward the miners' strike of the latter two branches of the triple alliance.

The possibility of a railway tie-up has already caused a certain amount of panic and many travelers are arranging to return home immediately.

The prospect of the railway men striking in sympathy with the miners is viewed with grave concern in government circles. Plans made by the ministry of food for use if the trouble extends, are on a more comprehensive scale than during last year's coal strike. The country has been partitioned into fourteen divisions with a divisional commissioner for each area, who will be responsible for it.

Real Meaning of Strike. The Chronicle sums up the real meaning of the coal strike, harking back to the strike of 1912, as follows:

"On the first day the mines will be deserted. On the second day the docks. They will tin plate and steel workers will be themselves with the night riders. On the third day the first week blast furnaces will have gone out and London factories will be closed. Seven hundred trains will have quit running.

The second week there will be a million and a half unemployed, in addition to the million men who are already unemployed. The food transportation problems will have become grave. The schools will close—and the trade union funds will be exhausted. In the fourth week unemployment will have become national—and there will be long processions of hungry women and children, protesting.

MacSwiney Hopes He May Be Freed By Parliament

London, October 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—After J. MacSwiney, brother of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, of Cork, who came to England without a passport or a seaman's certificate, thereby violating international law, today appealed to the American authorities in London for advice and to ascertain if there was any method by which he might be given the status of an American citizen here.

The American authorities informed Mr. MacSwiney that it was impossible for them to intervene in his behalf. They suggested that he was at the mercy of the British government, which could deport him without interference from American officials.

Allowed Perfect Freedom. The home office, which has been aware of the situation arising from Mr. MacSwiney's visit to London to see his brother, has not yet decided what it will do. In the meantime, Mr. MacSwiney is being allowed perfect freedom in London.

Mr. MacSwiney frankly told the American officials that he was without credentials. He said the reason he did not delay his departure from the United States was because of his anxiety to get to London after he had received definite word that the lord mayor could not live.

"My only thought was to see Terence before he died; so I got on a ship and came here," MacSwiney reported as being said to the officials. He declined to say by what method he got across the sea.

MacSwiney said he did not mind being deported, but he firmly believed his brother would die and the lord mayor's hunger strike.

Five men were killed and one seriously injured when a boiler in the cotton gin of the D. Racey Gin company, near Rowland, Robeson county, exploded this morning.

The dead are Robert Bridges, proprietor of the gin, two other white men and two Indians. The injured man, a negro, suffered a fractured skull. The cause of the explosion is thought to be due to water in the boiler becoming exhausted.

Another version of the cause is that explosives were placed in the boiler. Work had been done on a pot valve of the boiler yesterday and early today, and the man who did the work had gotten only 150 yards away from the mill when the boiler blew up. One side of the building was torn away by the blast, and a mule hitched a good distance from the mill was killed.

FARMERS ARRESTED FOR "NIGHT RIDING." Bald Knox, Ark., October 15.—Eight farmers arrested yesterday on charges of night-riding waived examinations when arraigned here today and were bound over to await action of the White county grand jury. Their bonds were fixed at $500.

Seven of the eight made confessions at the hearing. The eighth, Walter Bone, denied that he was implicated.

The men are alleged to have admitted having written letters to cotton gin operators and posted placards threatening to burn the gins and kill the watchmen unless ginning operations were suspended until cotton reached a price of 40 cents a pound. They are said to have declared that their plans were local and that they had no knowledge of a general plot to destroy gins.

MENTACING LETTERS TO BUSINESS MEN. Abilene, Texas, October 15.—A committee of business men from Anson today placed in the hands of federal agents letters said to contain threats of violence against cotton gins and business men unless dealings in cotton are discontinued until the price is higher. The federal agents announced they would conduct a thorough investigation.

Memphis, Texas, October 15.—Hill county ginneries today announced a reduction of 10 cents a hundred pounds for ginning cotton. The ginneries declared their action was prompted by the low price of the staple. There have been no gin burnings in this section.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., October 15.—Cotton gins at Hagler and Glen, in the northern part of Tuscaloosa county, have been posted by night riders, according to information reaching Tuscaloosa today.

Laurens, S. C., October 15.—Sheriff Reid was notified late today that the Goodwin gin in the Shiloh region was posted last night by night riders, ordering the manager to cease ginning at once until further orders, or when the cotton goes to 40 cents. Matches were attached to the door of the building. This is the third gin posted in Laurens county this week.

FIVE MEN KILLED BY GIN EXPLOSION

One Version Is That Explosives Were Placed in Boiler, But Another Is That Water Was Low.

FUNERAL OF FOREACRE IS WIDELY ATTENDED

Funeral services of W. N. Foreacre, former general manager of "lines east" on the Southern railway, who died suddenly Tuesday at Hendersonville, N. C., conducted Friday morning at the First Methodist church, were attended by one of the largest crowds seen at a funeral in Atlanta in several years.

Besides the great number of Mr. Foreacre's Atlanta friends at the funeral, there were present hundreds of his friends and acquaintances from points along the Southern road. Myriads of flowers were offered and laid about the pulpit.

The funeral sermon was preached by Dr. James E. Dickey. In his remarks, Dr. Dickey paid beautiful and worthy tributes to the life of Mr. Foreacre.

The body of Mr. Foreacre was buried in Oakland cemetery beside the resting place of his father and other. The Georgia Lodge of Masons, directed by Grand Master Rev. Charles S. Bass, conducted the services at the grave. An escort was furnished by Coeur de Lion commandery of Knights Templar from the church to the cemetery. Officials of the Southern road, Mr. Foreacre's associates, acted as pallbearers.

Conference Stirred When Preacher Attacks Governor Cox as "Wet"

Cleveland, Tenn., October 15.—Rev. Clarence True Wilson, of Washington, D. C., created a stir at the annual session of the Holston conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here by introducing a political speech into the proceedings charging that Governor Cox is "hopelessly wet," and urging his hearers and all Christians to vote for Senator Harding for president.

The Rev. Wilson, who said that he had always been a democrat, was speaking in behalf of the anniversary of the board of prohibition, temperance and morals. His remarks created something of a sensation, and it is said that many members of the conference questioned the propriety of the political address.

Among the most curious modes of salutation is that of the Malays and other Polynesians, who greet each other by smelling. Two natives, on meeting, after an absence of some time, seize hands, rub noses violently and at the same time weep loudly, presumably from the pleasure of seeing one another.

Funeral services of W. N. Foreacre, former general manager of "lines east" on the Southern railway, who died suddenly Tuesday at Hendersonville, N. C., conducted Friday morning at the First Methodist church, were attended by one of the largest crowds seen at a funeral in Atlanta in several years.

Besides the great number of Mr. Foreacre's Atlanta friends at the funeral, there were present hundreds of his friends and acquaintances from points along the Southern road. Myriads of flowers were offered and laid about the pulpit.

The funeral sermon was preached by Dr. James E. Dickey. In his remarks, Dr. Dickey paid beautiful and worthy tributes to the life of Mr. Foreacre.

The body of Mr. Foreacre was buried in Oakland cemetery beside the resting place of his father and other. The Georgia Lodge of Masons, directed by Grand Master Rev. Charles S. Bass, conducted the services at the grave. An escort was furnished by Coeur de Lion commandery of Knights Templar from the church to the cemetery. Officials of the Southern road, Mr. Foreacre's associates, acted as pallbearers.

Conference Stirred When Preacher Attacks Governor Cox as "Wet"

Cleveland, Tenn., October 15.—Rev. Clarence True Wilson, of Washington, D. C., created a stir at the annual session of the Holston conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here by introducing a political speech into the proceedings charging that Governor Cox is "hopelessly wet," and urging his hearers and all Christians to vote for Senator Harding for president.

The Rev. Wilson, who said that he had always been a democrat, was speaking in behalf of the anniversary of the board of prohibition, temperance and morals. His remarks created something of a sensation, and it is said that many members of the conference questioned the propriety of the political address.

"Nonense!" But Belter, the jester, laughed a terrifying laugh and snatched into the open door of the restaurant which they had walked a mile or two to find.

"The juke box," he remarked, "and suitable to my mind." They seated themselves at a cherry table. One or two newsmen, present, noticed Belter. A confidence man, whispering to a painted mulatto girl, turned to scrutinize him. A ruffianly barkeeper saluted him cordially.
